

Chair of the RCEM Public Health Special Interest Group (SIG)

This is an honorary position.

Applications close on the 8th August 2025.

An opportunity to chair this exciting and innovative specialist interest group for a term of 3 years. The RCEM Public Health Special Interest Group was established in January 2017 with the vision to provide an integrated approach to strengthening the interface between public health and emergency care in order to improve health outcomes for communities.

We hope to achieve this vision through:

- sharing the vision with health care workers nationally and internationally
- working with partners in the development of policies, research, training, and clinical practice related to EM and PH
- fostering an environment that encourages health care workers to pursue their professional interests in this field

The chair's role is to:

- Plan and oversee the SIG's strategy
- Have regular virtual meetings and one funded face to face meeting a year with the SIG members
- Attend the quarterly Quality in Emergency Care (QECC) meetings at the RCEM as part of the Best Practice Committee
- Collaborate and engage with internal and external stakeholders on embedding public health into emergency medicine including the Faculty of public health, HEE, PHE, ROSPA, Academy of public health
- Attend key local and national public health events
- Oversee organisation of events including study days

Person specifications:

- An NHS EM consultant with a keen interest in public health
- Excellent communication skills, leading a team and collaborative working
